The objects of The Worcester Society of Antiquity, from its organization in 1815 to the present time, comprise a great variety of interesting matter, presented from time to time before the Society by those specially interested in the subjects they have considered. Particular attention has been paid to local as well as general history, and numerous facts, hitherto unknown to the public, have been gathered up and placed beyond the reach of destruction. It may safely be said that no other society in Massachusetts has been able to accomplish so much in so short a time. This is mainly due to the personal efforts of the members who have not only made themselves familiar with written history, but have visited many historic localities, for the purpose of gleaned such facts as have heretofore been overlooked. Special pains have been taken to verify statements and dates, and it is believed that the historical matter contained in these Collections is remarkably free from error in this respect.
